Edison Properties was leveraging Microsoft 365 successfully but faced growing challenges around data security, privacy, and regulatory compliance. With large volumes of historical data they couldn't afford to lose, the organization struggled to manage it effectively. This accumulation created both operational burdens and potential security risks, prompting a need for a better governance framework and actionable compliance strategy.	eGroup partnered with Edison Properties to implement Microsoft Purview, focusing on Data Lifecycle Management, Information Protection, and Data Loss Prevention. These capabilities helped the organization retain critical data while safely disposing of obsolete content; meeting regulatory and privacy requirements. Expert-led planning, configuration, and governance design ensured a customized solution that addressed both immediate needs and long-term compliance goals.	Edison Properties successfully remediated key security and compliance issues, while gaining greater control over their data and reducing associated risks. Updated governance policies, IT procedures, and regulatory safeguards were delivered to support ongoing compliance. While this project didn't require new licensing, it firmly established eGroup as a trusted advisor and positioned the team for follow-up projects, solidifying a long-term relationship built on results.	Partner Kevin Motzer, Account Executive Chad Pohja, Solutions Architect Manager Tom Papahronis, CIO Advisor Jaclyn Jakrzewski, Sales Ops Specialist
